WEST GERMAN AUTHORITIES EXPEL PERUVIAN STUDENT WHO REFUSED TO SPY --
Santiago, El Siglo, 5 Aug 65

Peruvian student Salomon Espinoza Quiroz must leave West Berlin today. He has been expelled by the Bonn authorities for refusing to inform the secret services of West Berlin about different aspects of the German Democratic Republic.

Espinoza lived for some time in the GDR. After entering West Germany he was detained, after he had refused requests by the Bonn police that he report on certain East German military installations and on Latin American students studying in GDR universities and higher schools.

Espinoza's arrest provoked an immediate reaction in his favor among West German students. Student pressure forced the police to free him; but the Bonn Government ordered him expelled from the country.
